

Loreto Drawn Together

We provide a specialist service offering emotional support for parents and their under-fives

Art therapy for under-fives

Our under-fives art therapy service uses art as a way for young children to express themselves without the primary need for words.

This helps children to communicate emotions and complex stories, build healthy social and emotional development and make sense of difficult emotions in an age appropriate way. Alongside this, parent work sessions may also be offered to support parenting issues.
